

East Dorset's War

Martin Barry BSc. (Hons), M.A. University of Bristol.

Memory, Mourning, Commemoration or Remembrance?

Why are the names forgotten?

“In Britain and other Anglo-Saxon countries the visitor will soon find his way to the local War Memorial. Here the specific subject of remembrance is at times fixed less precisely; the suggestion is that war memorials invite us to recall more than the central facts of loss of life and bereavement in the Great War.”
